

Wizz Air announces new service from Turin to Iasi Three times weekly as of 1st August 2020

New route to another great city break destination

Caselle Torinese, 3rd October 2019 - Wizz Air, one of Europe's fastest growing airlines today announced the launch of a new service to Iasi from Turin. Flights will operate three times weekly to Romania's second biggest city, with low fares from just €24.99*.

Iasi, the historical capital of Romania, has been called the city of hundred churches. Located in Romania's historical region of Moldavia, it is the perfect choice for those seeking a getaway in a city indeed bursting with centuries of architectural creations.

Visitors can enjoy the city's diverse natural assets, the botanical gardens or the Copou Park with Romania's oldest monument, the Obelisk of Lions. Iasi is also famous for its prominent buildings and 500-year-old monasteries. The neo-gothic Palace of Culture or the Monastery of the Three Holy Hierarchs are definitely worth to visit, but visitors can discover hidden architectural gems on every corner.

Iasi's countless eateries, drinking places and lively clubs depend on the big university population. You'll find students from all over the world here – making this little corner of Romania truly cosmopolitan.

Wizz Air will offer almost 100,000 seats on its low fare routes from Turin airport in 2020. This flight will serve the Romanian community, which in Piedmont has about 100 thousands residents.
